Should Amend City By-Laws

Prospective Business Man Will Not Locate Here Owing to "Unreasonable" By-Law.

Our attention was directed last week to the effect By-Law No. 253 of this city in having on prospective business men who have been desirous of locating here. At different times during the past year outsiders have arrived in the city with the object of opening up a business, but when they are confronted with the by-law in question they departed from the city in disgust.

Recently a representative of a large concern doing business in different places in the west came to the city with the purpose of establishing a branch (there being no store of that nature here). He was pleased with the prospects, and negotiated for a suitable location, and departed.

Mrs. C. G. Cornelle of Camrose, visited at the home of Mrs. Geo. D. Wallace during the week.

The officers and members of Wetaskiwin Lodge No. 3, I.O.O.F. held a most enjoyable smoker on Monday evening last.

Mrs. F. P. Specter spent a few days of the past week visiting relatives and friends at Camrose. She returned Monday evening.

Mrs. J. H. Horner of Edmonton was in the city this week, renewing acquaintances. She was the guest of Mrs. F. E. Kelley.

R. W. Gibbs, of Edmonton was in the city this week, looking after business affairs, and incidentally shaking hands with friends.

The Wetaskiwin High School Basketball team goes to Ponoka on Saturday next to play a friendly game with the team of that town.

No matter what your wants in the line of printing may be, The Times can supply them to your advantage. The best of stock and workmanship guaranteed.

Lou Sinclair, who now resides in the Okanagan Valley, B.C. has been in the city several days attending to business affairs and shaking hands with his host of friends.

Miss Ryckman, formerly of the Alexandra school teaching staff, who is now teaching east of Leduc, spent the weekend in the city with Mrs. C. B. McMurdo and other friends.

The young people of the city held a patriotic dance in Angus Assembly Hall on Friday evening last. An enjoyable time was spent, and about $20.00 net was raised for the patriotic fund.

The citizens are very fortunate in having an opportunity of seeing the latest war pictures, which will be shown at the theatre on Saturday evening, October 24th. A matinee will be held from three to four in the afternoon.

Tale and Ann have entered into partnership, and will operate a real estate and conveyancing business in the Oldenburg building, corner of Railway street east and 7th Ave. N. Mr. T. will not devote more time to his auctioneering business.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Weller, who has been conducting an hotel at Ryley during the summer, have returned to the city last week. Their host friends welcome their return. There is no place like Wetaskiwin, after all.

An amusing advertisement appeared in the Wetaskiwin post office a few days ago, written with a lead pencil, which we think worthy of reproduction. The ad. reads as follows: "Look out! Look out! Pure black cat mit vite all over his back. He yowls first him self me file dollars. I hand saved him. T. L. in Wetaskiwin."

Who will be mayor and aldermen for next year? It is now a month to nomination day, and there does not appear to be a big scramble for the offices. Next year will likely be one of the greatest importance for Wetaskiwin and it is most essential that the best business men be placed in charge of municipal affairs.

The fire brigade had a run on Monday evening to extinguish a grass fire near the curling rink. The ground was being cleared with the intention of erecting a hockey and skating rink. The proposition is being financed by some of the enterprising young men of the city, and it is hoped when the time comes that the citizens will rally to their assistance, by purchasing tickets, attending games, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wadsworth of New Hampshire, arrived in the city a few days ago on a visit to the latter's brother, Dr. R. C. Robinson. Mr. Wadsworth is making a trip through the west, and first-hand information as to conditions, and will likely make some statements before his return to the east. He is delighted with the Wetaskiwin district.

THE APOLLO CHOR CHOIR

The members of the Apollo Choir are working hard preparing for the concert they are putting on in the Grand Theatre on Thursday, November 5th, which we understand is the first of a series of six monthly entertainments to be given during the winter season.

Wetaskiwin is to be congratulated that an organization of this kind is undertaking the work of getting up a repertoire of good music and giving the people an opportunity of hearing it at a very reasonable price as we are informed that the price of admission to the concert is to be only twenty-five cents.

The season's repertoire gives a fine range of stock music running from the simple lulling melodies of the southern plantations to selections from classic operas, including such gems as the Soldiers' Chorus from Faust, The Destruction of Gaza; "Martyrs of the Arena" as well as several two-part songs with entirely new settings, which are unusually harmonious and extraordinary in the middle of hymns.

Next week we expect to publish a complete program for the first concert, as well as a list of the soloists and a short description of the subjects of the different on the program.

The membership of the choir is limited, the idea being to secure a well balanced choir rather than one of indiscriminate volume and in the connection we have been advised by the director of the choir, Mr. Jenkins, or with the secretary, N. A. McEachern, of the Imperial Bank staff.

Town Topics

D. M. Gummish left last week for Ponoka, to look after his business interests.

Mr. Collins, representing the Calgary Herald, is in the city this week in the interests of his paper.

Remember that Saturday of next week is the last day on which the city allows a discount of ten per cent on the payment of taxes.

J. W. McElwain, who has been spending the past month at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Boyer, and returning acquaintances in the city, will be likely spend the winter here.

The eighteenth annual convention of the Northern Alberta Teachers' Association will be held in the separate school hall, Edmonton, on Thursday and Friday of next week, Oct. 29 and 30. As the Wetaskiwin district association has decided to hold their convention on the same dates with the Northern association, it is likely that several of the teachers from here will be in attendance.

The Times acknowledges receipt of $12.00, being the net proceeds of the performance of the Wetaskiwin Dramatic Society on Wednesday evening of last week. The total receipts were $55.00, and the expenses $43.00. We understand that it is the intention of the Society to put on another play as soon as it can be prepared.

The C.P.R. telegraph office, which has been located in the Higgs' drug store for some time, was this week removed to the depot. We understand that this action was taken in accordance with the company's policy of retrenchment. The telegraph poles have been removed from 7th street, which has added materially to the appearance of the street.

There passed away at the Wetaskiwin Hospital on Tuesday evening, William Kroghman, at the age of 44 years. Deceased was a hearty diner on Sunday, but on Tuesday, in the afternoon, he was removed to the hospital, where it was discovered that he was suffering from pneumonia, and from the outset, the attending physician could hold out no hope for his recovery. He had been a great traveller, and his lifetime has visited nearly every country in the world. Deceased was a native of Germany and was taking special interest in the war. He had been in the city for some time, and had made a number of investments, and a couple of years ago erected the Kroghman Block on Railway street east. So far as is known, the only R. Kroghman, now both of Calgary and so the Rev. John McLaughlin, miss a brother-in-law of Dr. C. B. Robinson, is being made to find the whereabouts of this relative, and the funeral arrangements are being held in abeyance awaiting instructions from the brother.

Wetaskiwin Exhibit Greatly Admired

Interesting Account of the Irrigation Congress At Calgary
Wetaskiwin District Should Have Had One of the Prizes.

To the Editor of The Times

Dear Sir:
Thinking that a few words in regard to the International Irrigation Congress and Exhibition held in Calgary a few days ago, would be of interest to your readers, I enclose an article for publication.

We left Wetaskiwin on the morning of the 5th last, which was the first day of the exhibition, arriving in Calgary about 3 p.m. I went direct to Victoria Park and found our allotted space, which was very satisfactory, being located at the right hand of the main entrance and where most everyone attending the exhibition passed our exhibit. It was five o'clock before the Express Co. delivered our goods and it was about eleven o'clock that evening before we got our display arranged. The following morning we went down and looked over the competing exhibit and were much surprised and pleased with our exhibit, as in our judgment it would be among first, second or third, not lower—but to our surprise the judges (two in number) came around Tuesday morning, judged all the exhibits in our class and awarded the prizes, but they did not award the first prize, but they did award the second prize, and the third prize. We had the largest exhibit, and the most varied, but they did not award the first prize, but they did award the second prize, and the third prize.

Next week we expect to publish a complete program for the first concert, as well as a list of the soloists and a short description of the subjects of the different on the program.

Edmonton, Oct. 16.—A delegation headed by Mayor McNamara, waited on the legislative assembly asking for equal franchise for both sexes over the age of 21. The proposed amendment to the city charter was defeated in committee, the legislators arguing that the question would be voted on by the people in December when the proposed elective commission charter for Edmonton was submitted. To amend the charter now it was contended, was too premature.

Town Topics

Next Sunday is "Go to Church" day in Wetaskiwin. If you have not been in the habit of attending the House of Worship, just make a change on Sunday next and attend.

A serious conflagration took place at the farm of Adam Kaiser, five miles west of the city on Sunday evening, when a barn, some harness and about thirty tons of hay were consumed. The cause of the fire is not known.

The management of the Criterion new manager being Alex Ross, re- Hotel changed hands last week, the costly of the Lakeview hotel, Strone Mr. Ross intends re-modeling the house, and making it one of the best in the province.

The executive committee of the Wetaskiwin branch of the Canadian Patriotic Association held a meeting arranged for a systematic canvass of the city and district. The on Monday evening, and concluded canvassers will accept contributions to either the Patriotic fund or the Belgian Relief fund or both.

L. E. Standeford and T. Ward have shipped out some very fine bunches of cattle from this district recently. Nowhere in Western Canada can be found grass-fed stock to surpass what is raised and fed in this community.

A. S. Rosenroll and daughter left for eastern Canada on Saturday last on business connected with the boat and dumb department of the province.

Recent incorporations in the province of Alberta include the Criterion Hotel company, of Wetaskiwin, limited, head office, Wetaskiwin, capital $25,000, and E. Pearl, limited, head office Wetaskiwin, capital $10,000.

Are Your Bowels Ever Constipated

If you wish to be well you must keep the bowels open. Any irregularity of the bowels is always dangerous, and should be attended to at once, for if the bowels cease to work properly, all the other organs become deranged.

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills work on the bowels gently and naturally, and will cure the worst cases of Constipation.

Mrs. A. Cumming, Manchester, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with Constipation for over five years, and I feel it my duty to let you know that your Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills have cured me. I only used three vials and I can faithfully say that they have saved me from a large doctor bill."

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills are a wonderful remedy for all diseases or disorders of the liver or bowels.

Price, 25 cents per vial, or 5 vials for $1.00, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The J. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Tired Feet?

You cannot blame the man or woman whose feet ache, who has tired muscles and nerves, who is fatigued after a few hours' walk, for being cross and irritable. The cause is a weak or broken down foot, known as "flat-foot".

This inflammation, aches, pains, distorted looking shoe and the cramped toes, are all results of a weak, tender or broken down foot. Sometimes the perfect lines of the foot are destroyed and sometimes they are not, but the symptoms are all the same.

Look for the School Trade-mark—don't take imitations.

A WORD TO POULTRY KEEPERS.

By F. C. Elford, Dominion Country Husbandman

The indications are that new laid eggs will be as scarce this winter as usual, and extra attention is not paid to getting the laying stock into condition and housed early, the supply of eggs may not be as plentiful even as they were last year.

Though the present is too late to begin to prepare for early winter eggs, it is a good time to make the best of what we may have by getting everything ready before the cold weather comes. The beginning was made last spring, when the early pullets were hatched, for only the early pullets can be depended upon to give eggs during November and December, the hens as a rule, will not lay many eggs until the end of January and February, it therefore from the well matured pullets that the high priced eggs must be had, and in order to get the most out of these, care must be taken as from now until laying time is a more critical time in the life of the pullet than most poultry men imagine.

How to Get Ready.

1. Keep no stock that will be non-producing. Kill off the old hens that will not lay until spring. Mar. et the immature pullets and all surplus cockerels as soon as they are ready. Give the rest of the pullets every opportunity to develop and get into laying condition before winter sets in.

2. Put these pullets into their winter quarters early. The unnecessary handling or changing of pullets from one place to another just when they are about to begin to lay is disastrous and in some cases will retard laying for several weeks. Give the pullets every chance to get acquainted with their winter quarters in plenty of time and feed liberally so that they will start to lay before the cold weather.

3. Do not feed sparingly but judiciously. Though feed may be high it does not pay to stint the layers. Feed them grain in a litter on the floor, and as the weather gets colder, increase the quantity of litter. In addition to the grain, they will either have a hopper, with dry mash, constantly before them, or if preferred, give it in the shape of a moist mash once a day. Have the house clean, preferably white-washed, and allow plenty of sunlight in. We have found that with a shed roofed house a board protection along the front of the house as high as 15 inches from the floor is an advantage; from this up glass and cotton in the proportion of one of glass to two of cotton, make the most ideal form for the average Canadian house.

Why Not More City Hens

Many towns and city people could not only produce sufficient eggs to keep their table going but have a long egg left over to give a long egg towards supplying the house, hold with groceries, etc. No male birds should be kept as they are a nuisance and an expense which if done away with and the house kept clean and sanitary there is absolutely nothing about such a plant that could possibly annoy the neighbors. If say one in every hundred city families would produce even enough eggs for their own table, it would reduce the number of those who only consume and add that many more to the list of producers.

Canada Imported Eggs Last Year. During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914, over 111 million dozen eggs were imported into Canada. These came from Great Britain, Hong Kong, China, Japan, New Zealand and the United States. Surely Canadian poultry keepers can supply the demand this year. If all help is in this matter there should be no lack of eggs and if care is exercised, there should be a good revenue to the producers and the consumer ought not to pay such exorbitant prices as sometimes have been asked in the time of scarcity.

Better Have the Cost Low Than the Sale Price High.

Owing to the high price of feed it may cost more this year than usual to produce new laid eggs, but by careful management the average cost one dozen eggs might be kept as low as usual. It is in the production end that producers should aim to economize and it is better to save at this end than to expect extreme prices. This is always the case and it is usually will be so this winter when everything the consumer has to buy will be dear and money to pay for it scarce. It will be logical to study how cheaply the eggs can be produced rather than how much can be charged for them.

Prof. Edward Brown, the veteran poultryman of England, made a suggestion to the other day to English breeders, which suggestion even from this distance sounds good. He said that as so many poultry breeders in Great Britain had done business with Belgians poultrymen, who in all probability were killed, or who at least have had all their stock destroyed, that these English breeders, at once as the smoke of battle had cleared away, might donate to their old enemies and friends in Belgium a sufficient stock to help them start up again. This suggestion of Professor Brown is worthy of a Brother and though Canadian breeders may not be able to do this, they can show their loyalty by producing as many new laid eggs as possible for this winter and at the least possible cost. Strictly new laid eggs in the winter are worth a good price and the man who can produce them deserves credit and extra remuneration, but let us hope that this winter, by better care and management, we will have enough new laid eggs that we can supply the consumers at a price which is within the reach of those who must have them.

COMMUNICATION

(We do not necessarily endorse the sentiments advanced by this or any other correspondent under this heading.)—Ed.

Editor of The Wetaskiwin Times,

Dear Sir:

The mere fact that the liquor interests all over the world are opposing every temperance movement and prohibition in particular, goes to show that less liquor is consumed under some form of temperance law. It is not the liquor the prohibition law will effect, or the use of same, but the traffic under the present license law, permitting a few men to become legal robbers and thereby piling up large fortunes at the expense of men, women and children, being in many cases deprived of life's necessities.

Beer in the United States in places where the license law is in force can be bought over the bar for five cents a glass, yet the saloon keepers are getting rich on their profit while they are paying a revenue of up to $1,000 a year. Here in Alberta the price of beer is fifteen cents a glass and the revenue something like $250

Just a few facts as to how prohibition works out in the United States. There are today over fifty million people in the United States, living and prospering under some form of temperance legislation, and prohibition has proved to be the strongest and most effective measure against the liquor traffic and is sweep has been adopted. Maine, North Carolina, the liquor traffic wherever it exists. Tennessee, Georgia, Virginia, and N. Dakota are all dry. Oregon, Wyoming, S. Dakota, Texas, Iowa, Minnesota, Louisiana, and Canada and Florida are all more than half dry. Wisconsin, Michigan, Connecticut and Rhode Island are at least half dry. There are no states in the union that is not partly dry. The only portions of the United States that are generally wet are the mining and lumbering portions.

The greatest humbug in legislation, the prohibition law, according to views of the liquor traffic, has already lifted thousands of mortgages, built up beautiful homes, and brought sunshine and comfort into thousands of homes. The whole lot of lies in the fact that it is draining the ranks of the army of drinkers, drunkards and red light inhabitants. It is diverting a stream of money from the hands of the merchants, meat markets and the banks, where little fortunes are laid up for a rainy day and for the support and comfort of old age. But say we are running a legitimate business. No law on earth can make liquor business legitimate. It is only a half-hearted effort to control what some people in certain places consider a necessary evil.

If you want to see examples of the facts above noted, you can cross the line into N. Dakota, S. Dakota, or Iowa, or any of the places cited above. Compare the dry Fargo with the wet Moorhead, and you will find abundant and excellent hotel service at reasonable rates, visit Grand Forks, Fargo, Wahpeton, eastern N. Dakota, and Minot, Williston, Bismarck and Dickinson in the western part. Run any hotel for the guests it is intended to accommodate and it can be made a paying business without the bar. I would be ashamed to eat a meal or sleep in a bed with the beggary feeling that a drunkard had helped to pay for it, knowing that his family eats less relishing food and sleeps in a less comfortable bed.

The army of bad characters generally leave as soon as the prohibition law gets into force, and consequently there are fewer conspicuously dressed men and women on the streets. To be fair, however, I will admit it seems to take certain women a long time to learn not to dress too conspicuously even under the good old prohibition law, but this is by no means the fault of the law, it is the women. We have heard say "Whisky did women go home." Someone will say that is awful to print. I agree, but it is any better in practice. We all know that there is today a big army of women in our country that have been robbed of their honor by the influence of liquor and liquor men. Why is it that parents with the least thought of restraint try to dress to suit their girls and boys to cities and towns? Because of the influence of the liquor traffic and the red light. Two know too well that a young girl cannot come to the city without being trapped by some city dandy, and the red light traffic and red light traffic a some way. In view of all this let the people of Alberta take a firm stand against the traffic and with the help of prohibition wipe out the curbs.

Yours very truly,

N. N. Gullikson.

ALBERTA CATTLE SELL

WELL IN TORONTO

From the Toronto Press there comes the information that on October 6 there were sold at the Union Stock Yards of Toronto by H. P. Kennedy & Co., Commission salesmen, to the Toronto-Fowler Canadian Company, a carload of Alberta cattle for $8.50 per cwt. in commenting upon same the press states that they were a fine sample of the kind of cattle that Alberta is capable of producing, and were said to be as fine a load as have been seen on the market the recent year. While the price is not the highest for the season, it was the top price paid that day.

The same report states that the firm of Kennedy & Co. sold Albert's butcher cattle as high as $10 and light stockers from Alberta at 6 c. With feed as plentiful as it is now throughout the central portion of this province stocker cattle should not be going eastward.

BRITAIN WILL SURELY CRUSH

GERMANY; WAR ONLY

STARTED.

London, Oct. 17.—The Times' military correspondent, replying to a "Frankfurter Zeitung" statement that Britain was unable to raise more than 600,000 troops, says:

"We have at present exactly double that number, namely, 1,200,000 men, and the number grows much faster than we can cope with it. This is only the beginning."

"It is our way, as well as that of America, to begin to raise our armies after the war breaks out, and to go on raising them until our ultimate ends are achieved. With 1,200,000 men at home, the army in the field and the hundreds of thousands forming in India, Canada, Australia and elsewhere are ready to be sent upon which other armies are to be built."

"It is only a question of time, it stands to reason that an empire of four hundred million can never lack men for any war for which it is begun. We have sent merely an advance guard into France. In the spring the remainder of the advance guard will follow, and somewhere near the end of 1915 the main body will begin to come into view."

"We are sorry for the allies that we are even slower than Russia to make our weight felt, but a year or so more will ultimately have to pass before we shall be in a position to make good war."

"Nothing can arrest the steadily ascending figures of our army. The cost is of little account, since Germany will ultimately have to pay in territory as well as money."

"Imagine things at their worst. Imagine the last Cossack on the Urals, and the last French doorkeeper ejected from Bordeaux. Then we would begin a machine war against Germany and still be no worse off than when we began war against Napoleon."

Thought She Would Lose Her Little Girl

From Severe Attacks of Summer Complaint

Mrs. Wm. Hirst, 194 Palmerston Avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes us under date of January 23rd, 1914.

The T. M. B. Co., Limited,

Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sirs:—Last summer I had grave anxiety for my little girl, who was just one year old in July last. She had constant and severe attacks of summer complaint and it seemed to drag on so long despite the many remedies I tried. My neighbors told me she had grown so weak I thought I would lose her. One night while nursing her, a friend of mine happened to come to see me, and after telling her about my baby's lingering illness she asked me to try Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I sent a little girl to our drug store and bought a bottle, and after having given the baby one dose, I noticed a remarkable change, and after giving her three or four doses she was well again, and began to walk, which she had not been able to do prior to her attack. She now has a fine healthy child, and I owe her life to that kindly advice of an old friend. I would advise all mothers to give Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry as a permanent place in their medicine chest."

Yours truly,

(Sgd. Mrs. Wm. HIRST.)

Suffered with Palpitation of the Heart and Nervous Trouble

Mrs. John Dennison, Combermere, Ont., writes:—"I cannot praise Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills too much. For years I suffered with palpitation of the heart and nervous trouble, so that I could not lie down to sleep. I tried almost all other medicines, and got no relief, until I was advised by a friend, who had been benefited by your pills, to try them. I did so, and after taking four boxes I found I was almost cured, and I am going to continue taking them, for I never got anything to do me so much good. I would advise any one troubled with their heart or nerves to do the same as I am doing."

(From The Canadian)

There are owned and operated in the New Norway district nine threshing outfits and there are seven outfits from outside points threatening change also. The attendance last week, the opening week of the fall term, was about that of last year's record registration, and a goodly number are expected from country points when harvest operations are finished.

TALE OF LOVE AND LOCKSMITH

He Meets a Suspicious Character, Who Gives Him $5 and a New Suit. For an Old One, but the Wise Hobo Makes Another Exchange.

By M. QUAD.

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

I HAD just come back to the tracks after getting a bite to eat at a farmhouse and was passing a heavy thicket fringing the road when a man rose up and beckoned me and called:

"Say, hobo, I want to speak to you a minute."

I am always ready to be spoken to and always looking to enlarge my extensive circle of acquaintances. I made my way into the thicket to come upon a pretty tough looking man who had one arm in a homemade sling and several fresh cuts on his face. I didn't take him for a minister of the gospel who had been out to a moving picture show the night before and lost his way and fallen into a culvert.

"Hobo, have you a heart?" asked the man as I stood siding him up.

"I have, but it's worked over under the right arm," I says.

"Good! I'm glad you are a joker, because you'll see the point of what in face or arm, and I got most of them out with a knife blade. It was while I was fussing with him that I discovered he had a gun and a knife and a burglar's jimmy on his person. Of course I hadn't taken any stock in his story, and now I got the tip that he had been shot while doing a job in the town.

Did I look wise? Did I seem skeptical? Was there anything critical in my bearing?

You got to! A hobo is a tenderfoot for a year or two and then gets next. That chap intended to make his getaway all right, and it was not for me to interfere. When he had been overhauled and braced up he suggested that we change clothes. Not the slightest objection on my part. Then he asked for my name and a brief biography and after handing me a five dollar bill was ready to go on.

"Checkers," says he as pleasant as a big sunflower after a thunder shower, "you don't want my angel's father to overtake and shoot me down, do you?"

"Far from it," I says.

"Then you'll keep quiet about this?"

"Sure, Mike."

"They may arrest you, but they can't make a case."

"Oh, that's all right! Even if they make a case I'm used to going to jail. Just hike along and be happy, and don't let go of that angel till she's yours."

He smiled and took the tracks, and I sat down to wait. For what? You don't think I was green enough to do a good business suit and be spotted before I had gone half a mile, do you?

A hobo face and hair and slouch hat don't go with a twenty dollar suit of clothes.

Professional Pride Stirred.

In about half an hour a tramp came along the tracks. He had no business there. It's a tramp for the highway and a hobo for the ties. My gorge rose at the fellow's check, and as he came along I seized and dragged him into the thicket and never stopped cutting him for fifteen minutes. When I had reduced him to a sensible state of mind I says:

"Stand up and strip off your duds!"

"Because I want 'em for myself?"

"But what'll I do?"

"Take the other suit."

He paroled 'em over, and his eyes sparkled with delight. He was going to get a fine suit for $2 worth of rag.

He didn't lose no time making the exchange, and as he stood with the better suit on a puzzled look came to his face, and he asked:

"Hobo, why are you so good to me?"

"It's to punish myself. I find that I'm getting too proud and stuck up for a hobo, and so I am going to begin at the bottom again. You keep mum about it, however. If you don't—"

"Be sure I will!"

He tramped on toward the town, and after taking a secondary nap, I followed on. They had him under arrest for attempted burglary the night before, and the watchman of a store was vowing over and over again that he knew some of those birdshot must have struck. He was right, but it was not for me to explain. I had got a good thing and passed it on to the next. I just leaned up against a lamp post and, says I to myself, says I:

"Checkers, the man who lets well enough alone is the man who piles up more weller."

She Turns the Other Check.

Many a woman's affection is but increased by receiving a check—Judge.

What Wellington Was Afraid Of.

Sir William Allan covered a large canvas with a picture of the battle of Waterloo, which the Duke of Wellington bought. His grace asked the painter to call at the Horse Guards on a certain day to receive payment. Punctually Sir William came, and the duke began to count out notes for the sum agreed upon. Knowing how valuable was his time, Allan said that he would be quite content to take the duke's check.

His grace went on counting, and the artist, thinking he had not been heard, remarked:

"I would save your grace time and trouble if you would give me a check a your bankers."

Either angry at being interrupted in his counting or else jealously, with a touch of the truth that is sometimes spoken in jest, the duke answered:

"Do you think I would allow Countess (his lady) to know what a fool I have been?"—London Tit-Bits.

Bride Cost Him $2.

At a smoker at a Washington club Representative Leary of Texas told one of his stories about international marriages.

"Count Olignon," he said, "was perhaps the meanest foreigner who ever looked a Yankee in the eye."

"Olignon married Little Goldie at the Paris registry office, and the next day his friend, the Marquis Tote de Vene, said to him heartily:

"I congratulate you on your magnificent haul. You have landed, I think, a noble French."

"Well, no, not quite," Leary said. "The wedding, you see, cost 2 bouis."—Minneapolis Journal.

Protecting His Stock.

An Indian who kept a fruit stand was much annoyed by possible customers who made a practice of handling the fruit and pinching it and being let me it suffered and often spoiled. Exasperated beyond endurance, he finally put up a sign which read: "If You Must Handle the Fruit, Pinch it in Coconut!"—Littlewood's Magazine.

WAR SUMMARY

London, Oct. 16.—A mystery ship, which is reported to have been a German craft, trying to plant mines at the mouth of the Thames, was captured by British gunboats. A Goodwin Sands. Neither admiralty nor press bureau has given out any information.

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—The minister of finance today informed the press that financial arrangements had been made to meet the war expenditure. The dominion for the present fiscal year will be obtained from the Bank of England, which will make advances to the Canadian government from time to time, as required for military and naval purposes. At a later date, when market conditions permit, a Canadian permanent fund, war loan will be issued and all temporary indebtedness liquidated.

London, Oct. 17.—The official war bureau announces that four German torpedo boat destroyers have been sunk. The German vessels were sunk off the Dutch coast this afternoon by the British light cruiser Undaunted, which was accompanied by destroyers.

Toronto, Oct. 16.—The following is an extract from a cable from Plymouth, England, in connection with the trip of the Canadian contingent:
"The most exciting incidents were the arrest of a supposed German spy and two burials overboard at sea.
One of a man from one ship, and another who died of exposure after a rescue. The name has been uncer-tainable as yet. It is supposed the spy was a private in a regiment from Montreal, said to be of Dutch nationality. He spoke several languages. The brigade commander's suspicions were aroused by persistent questions about the disposition of the various Canadian troops, and he ordered the man's arrest, which was very smartly done. A state letter and copy of a code were found in the man's clothes. A secret of the German's inquiry was held, with the result that the man will be kept in custody until further orders."

London, Oct. 17.—German forces, as was predicted, have occupied Ostend on the North Sea, near where the German right wing and the allies left are struggling in the latest phase of what was once the battle of the Ypres. Reports reaching London say that German imagination has been fired by the taking of Ostend and the cry now is not only
"On to Calais," but "On to Boulogne."

A poignant illustration of the way the war has broken up families is afforded by the case of a certain North London family. The father is German, the mother English, and two eldest sons, born in Germany have returned there to join the Germans; the two youngest sons, born in England, have joined the British army, and have gone to the front.

London, Oct. 17.—The Nation says the following will be found the best estimate of the total fighting forces of the German empire. Trained men, 4,400,000; untrained, but capable, 3,750,
000; landsturm, 17 to 20 years, 1, 500,000. Total, 9,700,000. Private troops from Germany, according to the Nation, speak of terrible losses among officers. One records the death of 42 per cent of the officers in the Bavarian guards.

In the opinion of Senator Laugel the war in Europe will not be one of short duration. Rather it will be long-drawn out campaign, in which will result much bloodshed, misery and suffering. "I think," he said, "that the war will last years instead of months as many people seem to suppose. It stands to reason that a conflict with involves the participation of from 8,000,000 to 12,000,000 men cannot well be settled without a long and arduous campaign. Of course, right will win in the end, and the victory will be won, but with all this, it will be a struggle of great bitterness."

The Pope has determined, with his Genoaese hard-headedness, to leave nothing unattempted to reach what is now his greatest ambition, to put an end to the horrible bloodshed devasting Europe and straining the continents. Thinking that Emperor Francis Joseph, owing to his age, pomp and the many misfortunes that have marked his long reign might be the most accessible, the pontiff centered on him his chief efforts. He wrote him an autograph letter, sent Cardinal Pitta, Archbishop of Vienna, with a special message and in support of the Emperor's confessor to make a strong appeal to his Christian heart, representing to him his responsibility and the punishment he may expect in his future life if he does not use his power and influence to the service of peace.
